- Requires deep contextual understanding.
- Solution: Fine-Tuned Large Language Models.

THE POWER OF FINE-TUNING

BASE MODEL (GPT-4)

General Knowledge.

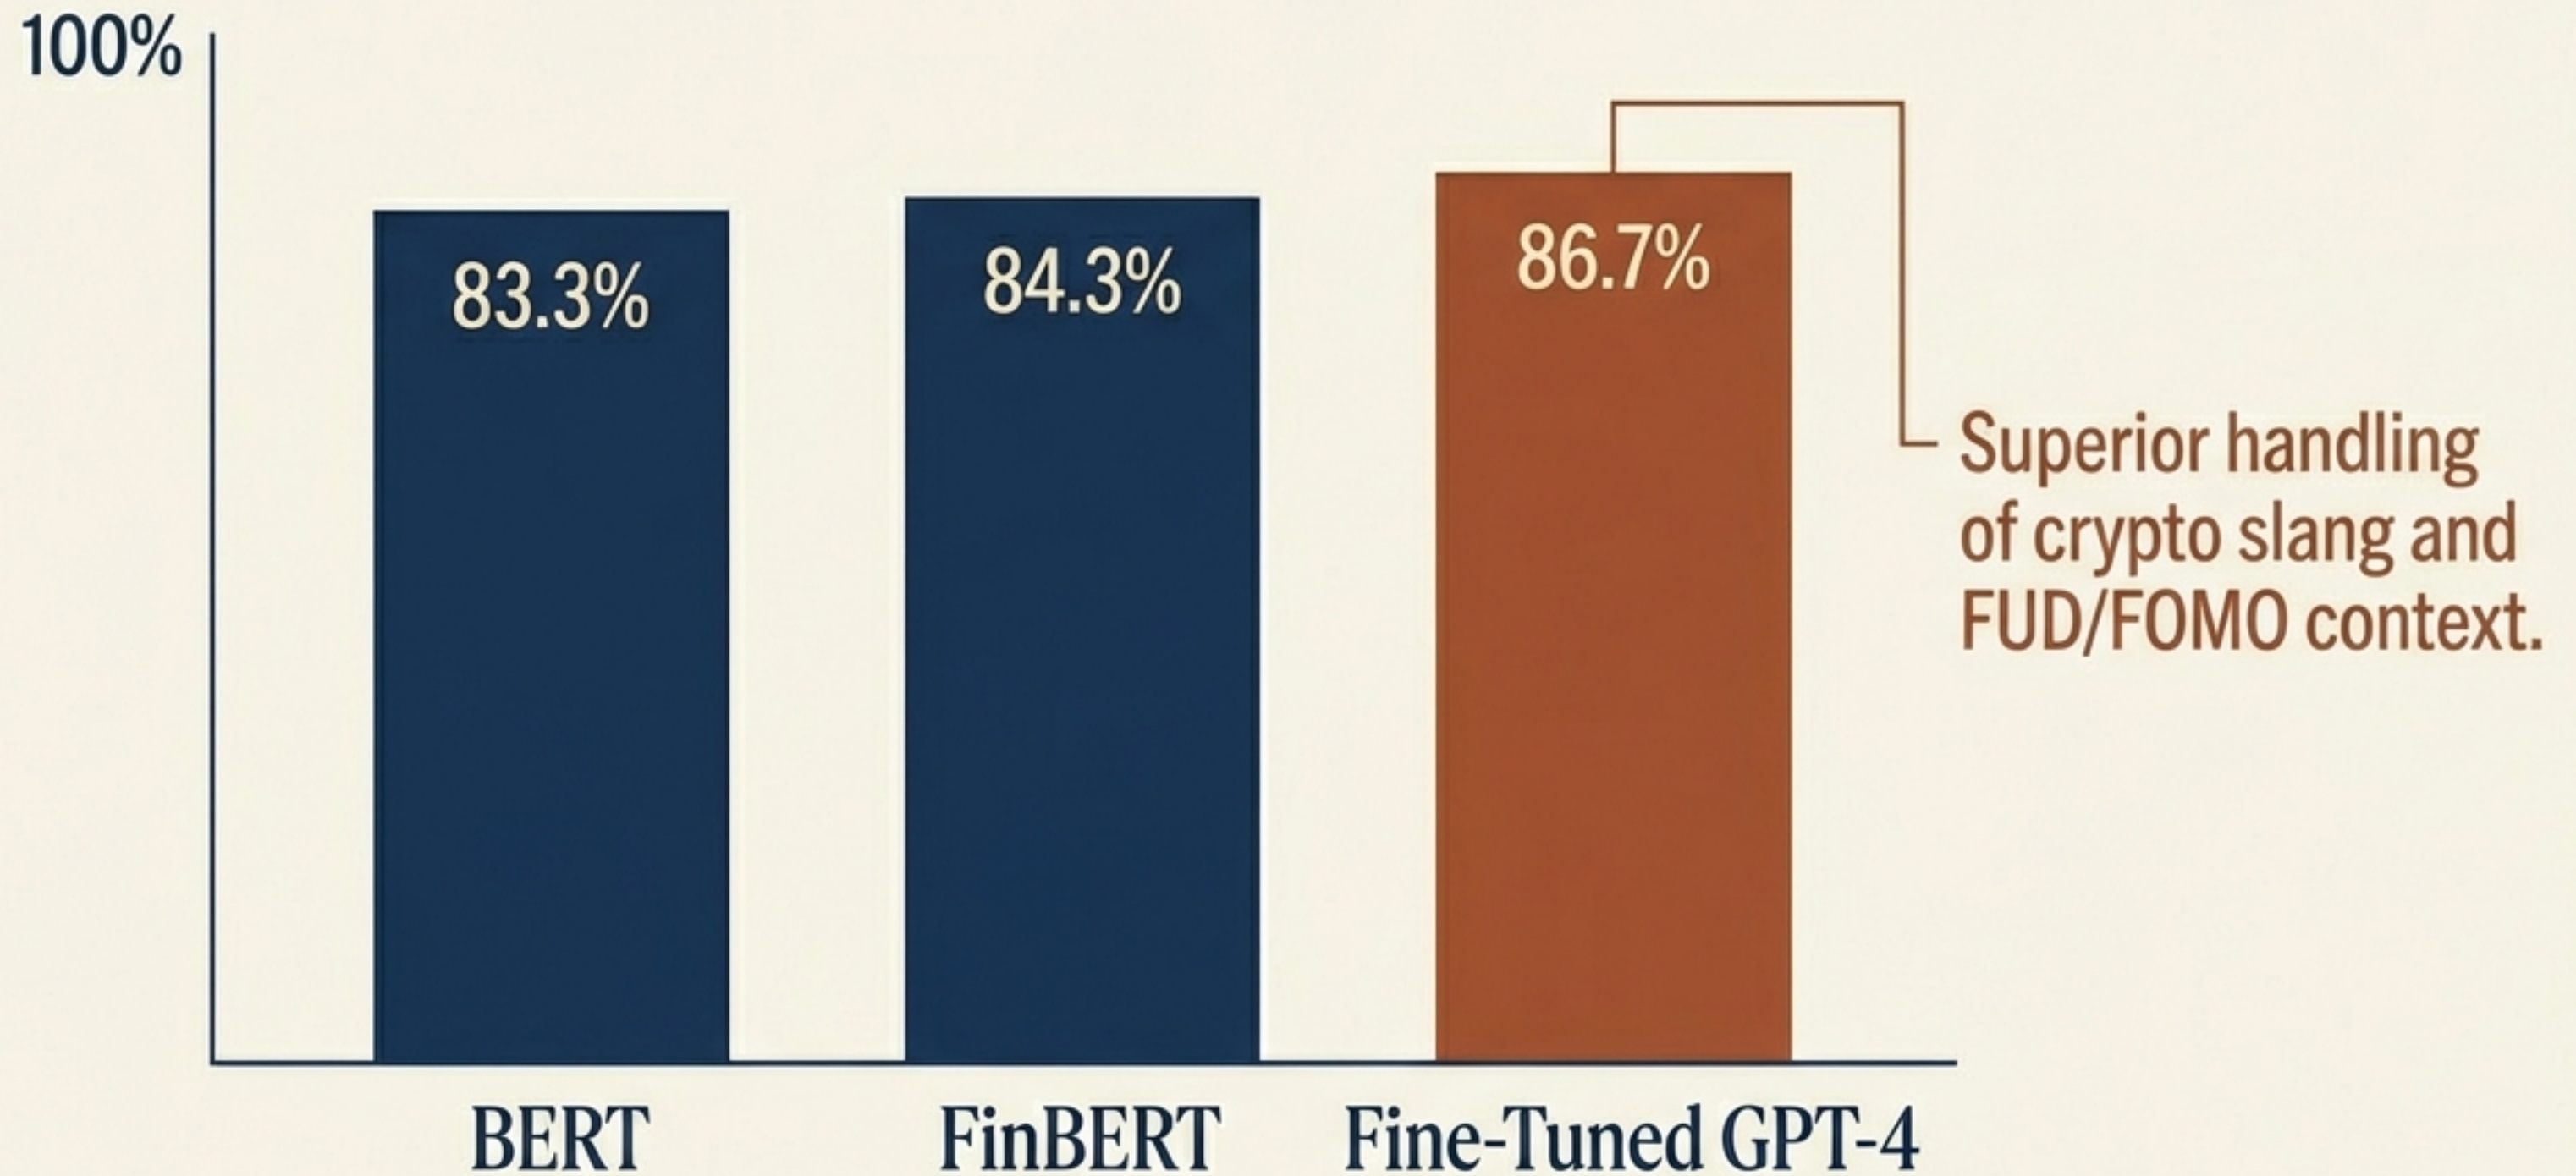

FINE-TUNED MODEL (LoRA)

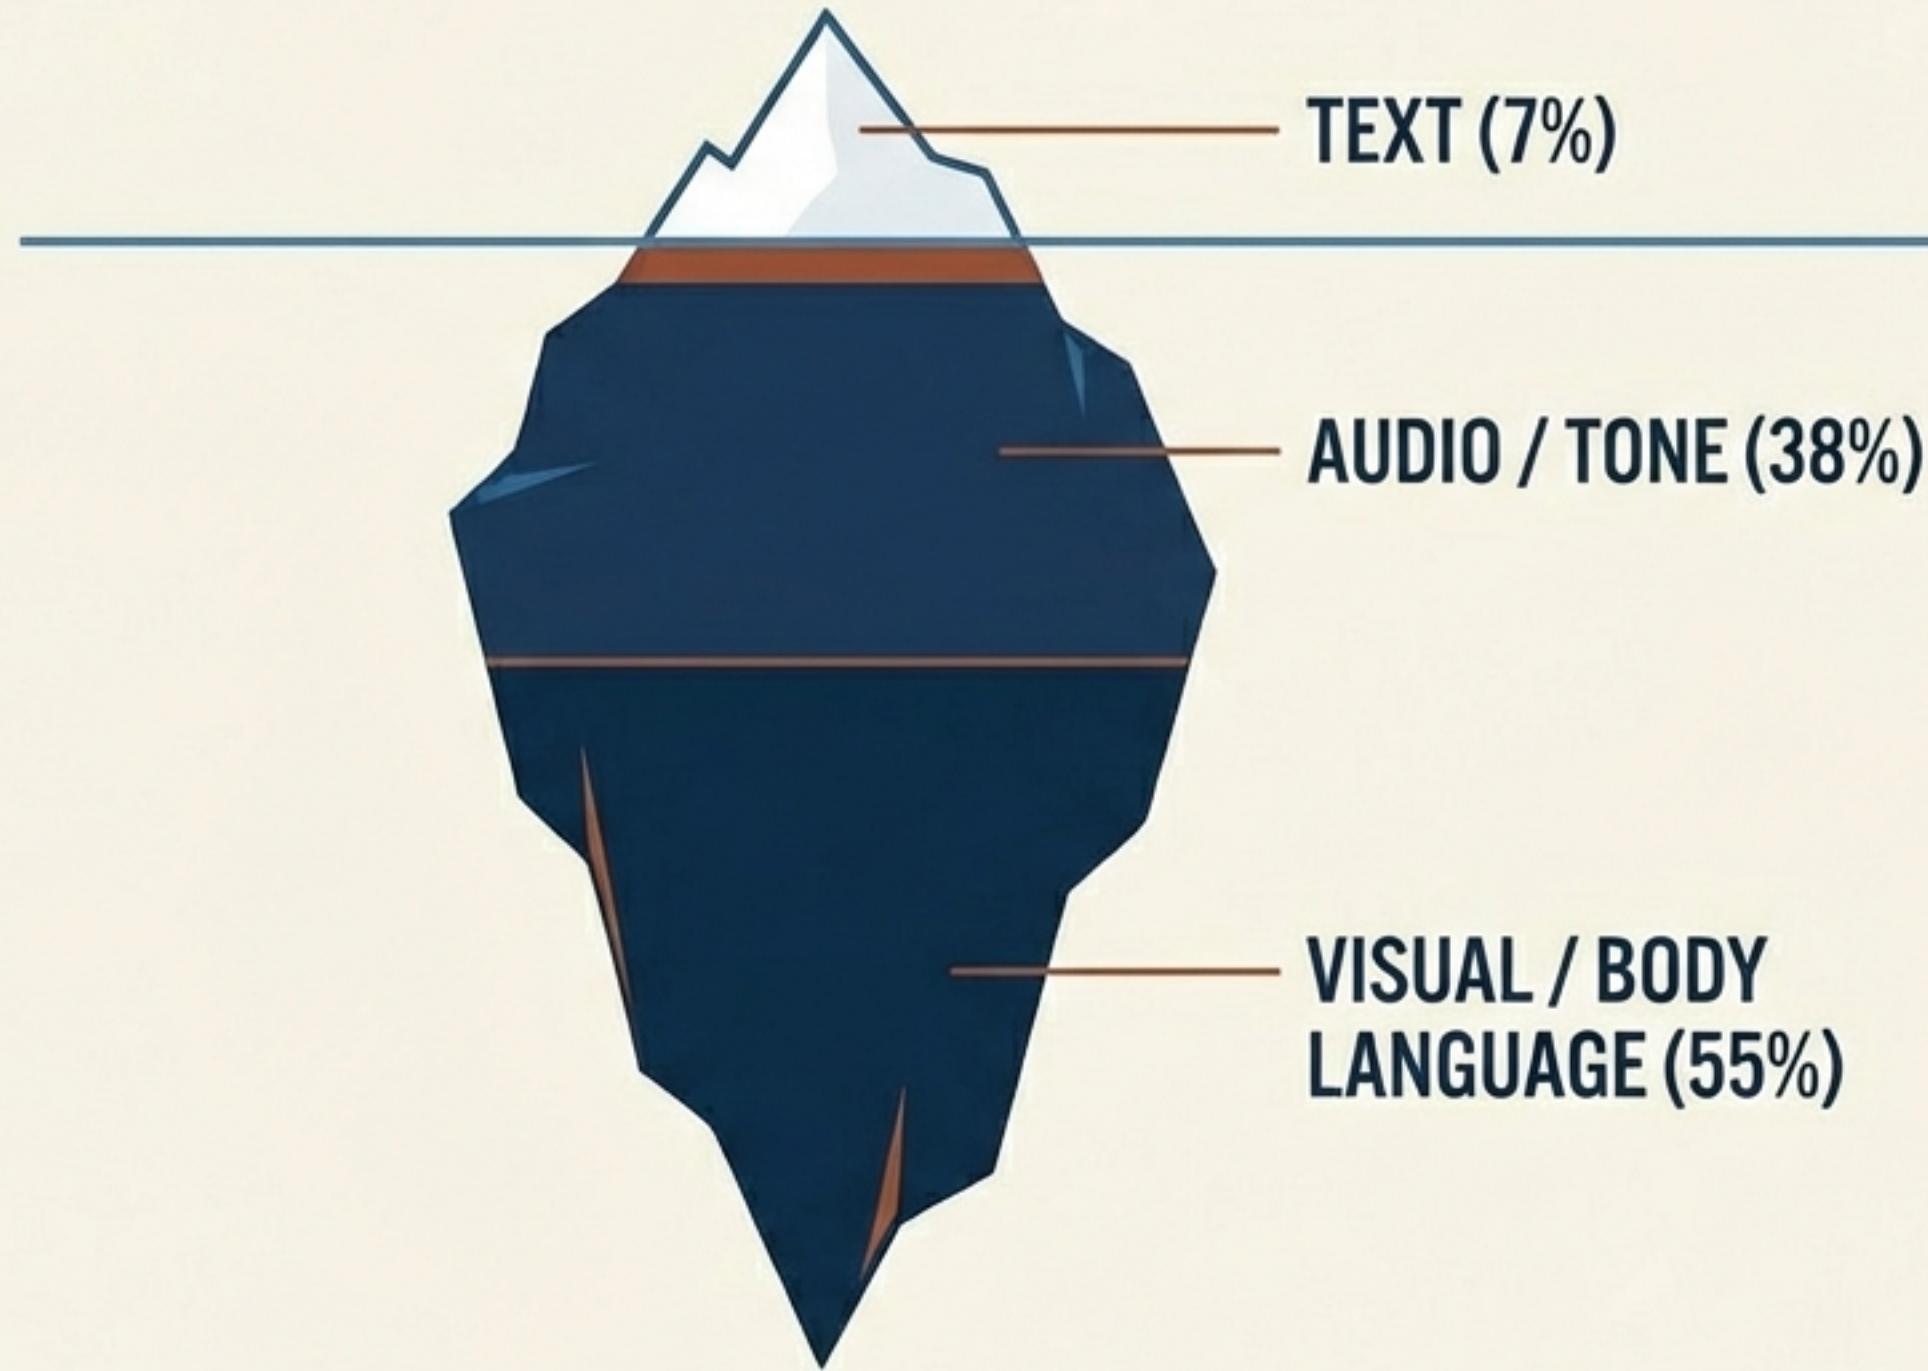

Specialized Financial Context.

Generalist models struggle with neutrality. Specialist models capture the nuance.

GPT-4 VS. THE FIELD

THE MULTIMODAL FRONTIER

The gold standard for sentiment analysis requires listening, not just reading.

THE SOUND OF RISK

Managers can script their words, but they cannot hide their affective state.

PITCH: Indicates Dominance vs. Nervousness

JITTER: Micro-tremors indicating stress

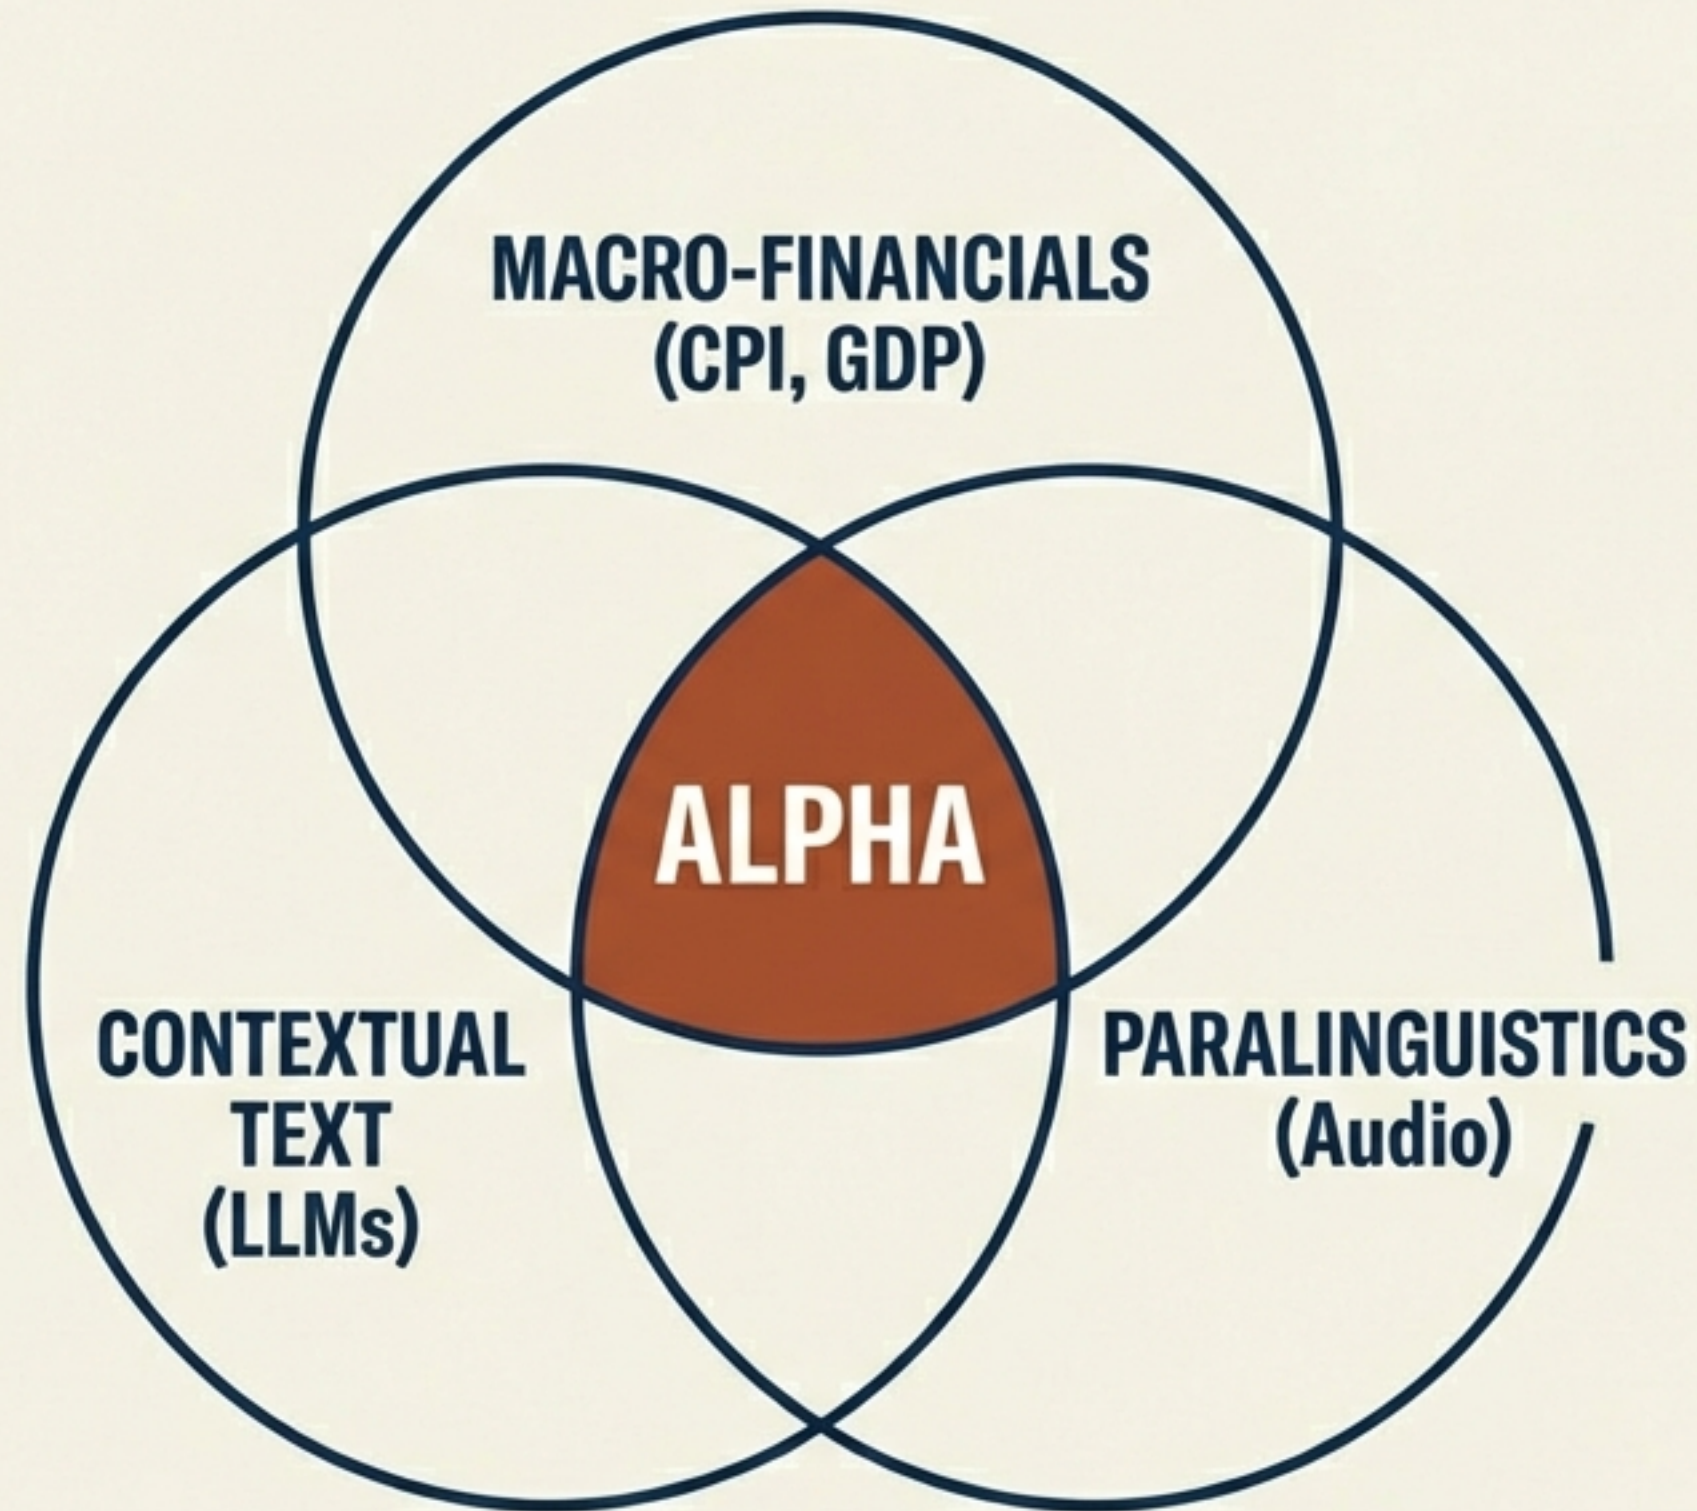

INTENSITY: Confidence levels

WHOSE VOICE MOVES THE MARKET?

Spontaneous analyst interactions (Q&A) carry significantly more weight in price discovery than scripted managerial remarks.

Random Forest achieved 100% recall in stock trends.

CONTEXT IS KING.

Fine-Tuned GPT-4 outperforms generic financial models.

BEYOND WORDS.

Vocal cues reveal the 'soft information' text misses.

THE Q&A MATTERS.

Analyst skepticism moves markets more than CEO scripts.

THE FUTURE IS HIGH DEFINITION

The investor of the future is an architect of systems that listen, read, and understand.
